It Is An Undisputed Fact!

That there are several different kinds of people in this world, ONE KIND think that they must pay a high price for anything or else it is not good.

This is the Class

We are after. High prices paid for buggies do not necessarily mean high quality.

We are selling a buggy that we know is the best vehicle made anywhere (our guarantee against any kind of breakage from any reason whatever proves that) and the prices we are making would cut very close to low quality buggies. We are not OLD TIME buggy men and do not know that we must have a GREAT BIG PROFIT on each job we sell. We would rather sell two jobs and make one profit than to make the same amount on one job.

YOU GET THIS OTHER PROFIT

And when we say so you can bet your last dollar that you are getting quality also, the highest quality that can be gotten. Give us a chance to prove it.

SHOCKING SUDDENNESS

Came the News of a Good Woman's Death.

Mrs. Virginia Glass Mercer, wife of Mr. Samuel C. Mercer, died Sunday morning after a brief illness. She was 60 years old and a daughter of the late Zach Glass. Death followed an operation for intestinal impaction, or locked bowels.

Her husband is the well-known capitalist and former journalist. They lived at a beautiful suburban home just north of the city. Besides her husband, she leaves five children—Mrs. J. M. Starling, Mr. Prentice Mercer, Mr. S. C. Mercer, Jr., Mrs. Dr. F. P. Thomas and Mrs. J. O. Littlehales, all of this city.

Many other relatives live here and at other points in the State.

Mrs. Mercer was a lifelong member of the Baptist church and her life was an exemplification of the beauties of the Christian religion. Consistent in her piety, she was ever the friend of the poor and needy.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon and the body was laid to rest in the cemetery near her late home.

While the little one was playing in the yard she was attacked by the bird, knocked down, and her face and neck were cut in several places. The most dangerous wound was made on top of the child's head, when a spur was sunk an inch deep, causing much loss of blood, unconsciousness resulting. It is feared that the child will die of its injuries.

DR. G. GOLDSTEIN,

The Optic Specialist of Louisville, Ky.

Is Now in Hopkinsville For a Few Days at Hotel Latham, Room 14 and Hotel Parlor.

It is my specialty to fit glasses in such a manner that they relieve the strain perfectly; fitting the eye with spectacles that you can wear with ease and comfort, thus preserving the eye. In examining the eye only the latest and most improved methods and instruments are used.

Physicians especially are invited to call and investigate my methods of correcting errors of refraction. Many cases of headache, neuralgia, nervousness, irritability, insomnia, vertigo, nervous prostration and the seeming stupidity of children are often due to defective vision caused by the abnormal curvature of the cornea or crystalline lens, or to an irregularity of the refracting media of the eye and are relieved by the application of the proper glasses. 90 per cent of the people over 40 years of age need glasses and 50 per cent of the 90 need them for distance.

Glasses are not always given to improve eyesight, but to relieve undue strains—in other words to assist nature. Thousands of eyes are ruined yearly. Seven persons out of ten have neither eyes alike, and one out of twenty Astigmatism, hence the necessity of testing each eye separately. Special attention is given to any inequality that may exist between the refraction of the eyes.

Optical science has made rapid advances within the last few years, the correct adaptation of spectacles has become a distinct profession. The optician who thoroughly understands his business realizes fully that in adjusting the glasses for his customers he is treating with a most delicate and precious organ where the slightest error may result seriously, while, if he does his work well he not only gives comfort and ease to his patrons, but in many instances restores the sight.

Special care should be taken in selecting the first pair of spectacles nor should it be attempted without the aid of a responsible optician. It is most important that the lenses should be accurately centered and of the best quality, and the frames so made that the wearer looks directly through the center. Glasses nicely fitted to the face become an ornament as well as a necessity.

Fitting children with spectacles is a specialty. Parents, do not neglect your children's eyes. Difficult cases solicited. All questions in regard to the eyes are cheerfully answered. Consultation and examination free.

OLDEST LETTER EXISTING.

Was Written 4600 Years Ago in Babylon.

Dr. Hugo Radau, a St. Louis Assyriologist, has come into possession of one of the most remarkable letters in the world. It was written 4600 years ago by Ur Zu Za, a chief of omen in Babylon, and was addressed to Ur Tur. It was a receipt for 16 gur of grain.

This letter was never received by the person for whom it was written. It was carefully written upon a flat piece of soft clay 1 inch wide 1 1/2 inches long and of an inch thick and baked. Then an envelope was prepared for it. This too was inscribed and baked. It became lost in Tili-bah, a city in Babylon, and was found there a few years ago, when M. de Sarzac, the French archaeologist, was digging out in Babylon those priceless Assyrian relics to be seen in the Paris Louvre.

Dr. Radau received the letter from Rev. F. P. Van Hooteem, a Roman Catholic priest who is rector of St. Francis Church, Holsa, Wis. Rev. Van Hooteem went around the world in 1900, and the letter was given him at Calcutta by Meneigneur Athanasius Ignatius Nouri, the Syrian Catholic archbishop of Baghdad. It is supposed that it was either overlooked in the French explorations or else was taken by some dishonest Arab, accounting for its appearance at Baghdad.

It has not been opened, and was sent to Dr. Radau for that purpose. His delight with it may be imagined. Then it is known that this thorough scholar in things pertaining to old Babylonian opened the burned clay envelope and found the letter intact and as legible after 4600 years, as it was the day it was written.

Vesuvius' Death List.

The tourist who ascends Vesuvius does so at the risk of his life. It is said that 11,000 tourists have been killed since it has become a road to make the ascent of the volcano. Formerly the trip was made on foot or horseback, and those methods are still used to a certain extent. The fact that the central cone of Vesuvius collapsed a few days ago, and that long and deep cracks have made their appearance, gives rise to reasonable belief that startling volcanic disturbances are imminent, says Harper's Weekly. Strange as it may seem, the region is very fertile, and wine manufacture is an important industry.

When the Wheat is Turning Yellow

O, the country's fair and mellow
When the wheat is turning yellow:
I fascinate a fellow—
Makes him sing:
When to Ceres we're beholden
For the fields awake and golden,
And the meadow larks are golden,
And they sing:
O, my fate could not be kinder
Than to let me drive a blinder
When the sheaves of wheat are twined of
Bound with wire.
And my heart strings would be strumming
An auxiliary humming
To the binder's noisy drumming—
Or I'm a lyre.—Post Dispatch.

RAILROADS LOSE.

Kentucky Court of Appeals Decides Franchise Suits For The State.

The judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court was affirmed by the Court of Appeals in the case of the Southern Railway, etc. vs. Guo C. Coulter, Auditor. The whole court sat in the case. Chief Justice Gu Ta wrote the opinion and Judges Barham and DuRelle dissented.

The action was brought by a number of railroads to enjoin Coulter, etc. (the State Board of Assessment and Valuation), from certifying from various counties, towns and taxing districts, for collection, a franchise tax assessed or to be assessed against various railroads. The ground relied upon by the road was that it was illegal to certify any franchise tax as due from the railroads to the counties.

The several actions were consolidated and heard together. The court dismissed the action and refused to grant the injunction. The railroads appealed. The affirmation of the case is a decisive victory for Auditor Coulter and the other members of the Board and will result in a large increase of the State revenue.

PULLMAN CONDUCTORS

Want More Pay and Will Petition the President.

The Pullman conductors want an increase in pay, and with that end in view will present a petition to Robert Lincoln, President of the company. The petition has been circulated for several weeks, and now has several thousand names attached to it. The conductors have no organization, and the petition is in the nature of a request.

The men request that the new men be paid $65 a month the first six months they are in service and $75 a month thereafter. The maximum pay is now $75 a month, and they want this increased to $85 a month. The men now purchase their uniforms until after they have been in the service for ten years, when the company pays for them. The uniforms cost the men from $50 to $75 a year. The company pay for all uniforms after a man has been in the service six months.

It is also asked that all grievances be referred to the General Manager instead of the District Superintendents.

Suffrage Debate in Australia.

The granting of national suffrage to women throughout Australia is naturally hailed by the advocates of the ballot for women as a long step of progress for their cause. The debate over the question in the Senate of Federated Australia was spicy and amusing. It shows that the arguments both for and against equal rights for women are much the same at the antipodes as in America.

Senator O'Connor, in introducing the bill, said it would give Parliamentary suffrage to 765,407 women. He saw no reason why Parliament should continue to pass laws which had to be obeyed by women, without giving the women some voice in the selection of those who made the laws.

Sir Joseph Symon said he did not want to vote. Senator McGregor, of South Australia, where women already have a vote for the local Parliament, said they certainly showed no unwillingness to vote in his part of the country; for in South Australia there were 75,000 women on the electoral roll as compared with 83,000 men. Senator Barrett said the largest petition ever presented to the local Parliament of Victoria was for woman suffrage. It had to be carried on the shoulders of two men.

Senator Fraser thought a woman's place was at home. Another Senator replied: "Senator Fraser would take his lady friends to church or to the theatre, but not the ballot box."

It was declared that the women would always vote for the handsomest candidate. Senator Stewart retorted: "That objection is completely destroyed by the Senators elected to this body from South Australia. Not one of them is a dude." This sally called out much laughter.

Senator Ewing, in a more serious vein, pointed out that in England and most of Australia the divorce laws are unequal, giving the husband a right to a divorce for infidelity on the part of his wife, but refusing the wife a divorce for infidelity on the part of her husband. In the two Australian States where women have the Parliamentary suffrage and in those only, the divorce laws have been made equal. He also spoke of the many women who have to earn their living, and who ought to have a voice in the laws regulating labor.

Throughout the debate it was acknowledged, even by the opponents, that in South and West Australia and New Zealand, where women already have the full ballot, none of the predicted evils had come to pass. The bill was also helped by the fact that women already have the municipal ballot throughout Australia, and have used it in a way to disarm all criticism. The Melbourne Age said: "Considering that female rate payers are entitled to vote in municipal elections, and have been exercising that right for many years without a voice being raised either in deprecation of the principle or in censure of the practice, it does seem rather absurd to bestow the same privilege upon the sex at Parliamentary elections. The result of the debate was a foregone conclusion. The bill was carried without a roll call, the opposition being so feeble that it had not strength enough to call for a division."

HUSTLER'S COMMENTS

On the Brasher-Stanley Episode at Morganfield.

The congressional race in the Second district is moving along lively these days and in many parts of the district is waxing warm. It was the general expectation that A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, would be the orator of the crowd and John Brasher of Hopkins, the bushwhacker. It seems at any rate that Mr. Stanley proceeded upon the idea that he could eat up the Hopkins county man on the stump and make him take to the bushes. He made a vicious attack upon Mr. Brasher at Sebree and in a report that was sent to the Henderson Standard of the Sebree speaking emanating with Mr. Stanley himself, the prediction was made that Brasher would not dare meet Stanley in joint debate again. But Brasher met him again at Morganfield, where he took an unfair advantage of Mr. Brasher in the debate and capped the climax by calling him "a pumpkin head."

At Morganfield Monday they met again in joint debate and if reports received from reliable sources are correct, the Henderson orator will have to go into the shops for repairs before engaging in another debate with the Pennyroyal Pony from Hopkins. At Morganfield Mr. Brasher opened the debate and confined himself to a discussion of national politics and was followed by Mr. Stanley, who proceeded to ridicule and vilify Mr. Brasher as he has been in the habit of doing at previous appointments. In his fifteen minutes' recital, Mr. Brasher proceeded to take the "hide off" and pay his respects to the gentleman from Henderson. The audience having noted the temper of the preceding speeches, (Mr. Brasher's gentlemanly reference to his competitors and Stanley's bitter, balding remarks about Brasher), was in a good condition to appreciate the lambasting Brasher gave him. Brasher's rejoinder was delivered through almost continuous applause and concluded amid a scene of enthusiasm never seen in the Morganfield court house. The Gleaner made the prediction that Brasher would not meet Stanley in debate again. Now the Hustler wants to make a prediction and that is that if Stanley does meet Brasher again he (Stanley) will confine his remarks to national politics and impersonal oratory. He will not dub John Brasher a "pumpkin head" or attempt to ridicule him again. The whole idea about the business is that Brasher is going to win, Stanley sees it and is getting desperate. The candidates all expected a close race on the Fourth of July but by that time we think everything will be peaceable and the public will be in no danger from attending the celebration at the fair grounds.—Hustler.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties. He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by C. K. Wily.

To Reserve Railway Seats.

The Western railway of France is about to try a device by which passengers may retain their seats in a railway carriage without resort to the expedient of placing luggage on the seat claimed. Over each place in a compartment is placed a disc, and as each is occupied a number is placed on the disc and a counterweight is handed to the passenger by the guard. By a recent judicial decision no passenger can claim a seat by placing objects upon it.

BOKHARA AND KHIVA

Two Semi-Independent Asiatic States Whose Rulers Talk of Visiting Europe's Capitals.

The eastern section of Turkistan between the Aral sea and the Chinese frontier is divided politically between the Russian territory and the still semi-independent Khanates of Bokhara and Khiva. Though nominally self-governing they are both, however, under the suzerainty of Russia. The state of Bokhara was founded by the Chagis in the fifteenth century. The present ruler belongs to the dynasty of Manguts, and dates from the end of the eighteenth century. In 1858 the late Ameer Mir Muzaffar-ud-din proclaimed a holy war against the Russians, who thereupon invaded his dominions, won him a decisive certain territory and pay an indemnity, while in 1873 a further treaty was signed, in which the state was made practically a Russian dependency. The population of Bokhara dwindle considerably up to 1880, but the Trans-Caspian railway has done much for the state lately, though it suffers considerably from loss of water from the Upper Zarafshan, the Russians drawing it off in ever increasing quantities for their irrigation works at Samarkand. The reigning sovereign is the Ameer Sayid Abdul Akbar, fourth son of the late Ameer by a slave girl. He was born about 1860, was educated in Russia, and succeeded in 1885. The heir is his son Sayid Mir Alim Khan, born January 3, 1880. The Ameer has about 30,000 troops largely Russian drilled. The Khan of Khiva, Sayid Mahomed Rahim Khan, came to the throne in 1865. Khiva founded, like Bokhara, on the ruins of Tamerlane's Central Asian empire, has long been under Russian control. It is less than a quarter the size of the other state, and supports an army of some 2,000 men.

Waller with ordering the extermination of all natives in Samar over the age of ten years, for which he is to be court-martialed, entered the Second Kentucky Infantry in 1861 and was made a captain in that regiment in 1862. He was mustered out in 1863, and became a captain of the veteran reserve corps, being mustered out from that organization in 1865. He was commissioned a captain in the Thirtieth Infantry in 1867. He was promoted to major the same year and made judge advocate. In 1894 he was appointed major in the Second Infantry. His promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel was made in 1898, when he was assigned to the Twelfth Infantry. He became colonel of the Twelfth Infantry in October, 1899, and since then has been on duty in the Philippines. He was commissioned brigadier general of volunteers in 1898, and in recognition of the army he was promoted to a brigadier generalship in that service.

Generous to His Bride.
A 60-acre stock ranch and 29 head of blooded horses were the gifts of George P. Johnson, of Moundville, Idaho, to his bride, who was Miss Alice Henry, of Cumberland, Md. The acquaintance of the two is said to have begun in a matrimonial advertisement. Mrs. Johnson was a waitress in a hotel and Mr. Johnson is a millwright ranchman.

Tooth Suffered Vexal Chords.
R. C. Hardwick, of Johnson, O., coughed up a tooth the other day and recovered his voice, which he had been unable to use for many years. It is supposed that the tooth had lodged in a pocket about the vocal chords, preventing their vibration.

SCENT PREVENTS INFECTION.

Fact Proved by Experience by an English Perfume Factory.

"Scent is really more of a necessity than is generally imagined," says Mr. Barnett, who has a laboratory of flowers in Birmingham, "taking into consideration the fact that for the past 15 years I have never known a case of illness through any infectious disease out of my factory, not even influenza, showing that perfume is a preventive against infectious disease."

When Birmingham a few years ago was invaded by a terrible epidemic of influenza, Mr. Barnett's perfume factory was one of the very few that escaped with absolutely a clean bill of health.

Among the many wise beliefs of the ancients was one that the scent of flowers was conducive to health and the prolongation of life.

Flying records 85 remedies discovered from odoriferous rue, 41 whose base was mint, 32 balms from roses, 21 from lilies, bulb and bloom, and 17 essences strong in the virtue of violets.

Pure violet essence is said to be especially suitable to nervous people. But it must be obtained from the flowers themselves, not from the chemical imitations. Chemically derived perfumes are irritant, poisonous even, to persons of especially sensitive constitution. Many have experienced the refreshment of lavender-water when faint from heat or crowding. Lavender is peculiarly suited to highly-strung temperaments. It is soothing, as well as refreshing, without being unduly stimulating.—London Answers.

SLANDER THINLY VEILED.

How One Kansan Told Another What He Thought of Him.

A curious story comes from Kansas, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat, of a man who wanted to tell a neighbor what he thought of him without laying himself open to a suit for damages. So he hit on the plan of sending him each day a postal card with only one word written on it in a large hand, in addition to the date obviously tucked away in one corner. The person receiving the cards recognized the handwriting, and, suspecting something, kept them until they stopped coming, when he read them consecutively in the order of their reception. What he read was: "Ridiculous old Bill Jones is the meanest cuss in town," and he at once instituted a suit for slander against the sender. The latter's lawyer, however, called attention to the fact that the postal card contained "ridiculous," though mailed first, was dated the day after the date of the card having the word "town." Moreover, a careful inspection would show that after the word "ridiculous" was an exclamation point, and after this word "town" was an interrogation mark, so that the series of postal cards might be made to read: "Old Bill Jones is the meanest cuss in town? Ridiculous!" He claimed, therefore, that instead of slandering the plaintiff, his client had defended him from slander, and this plea was sustained by the court. But all the same, everybody in town insisted that the first reading of the cards was the correct one, so that the writer attained his object.

LAID ON THE TABLE.
But the Bill Represented Not Ideas But Real Money.
Early the other morning the pages of the house of representatives held a mock session of the house. They elected the oldest page speaker, organized, received a message from the senate and from the president in strict parliamentary style and unanimously adopted a resolution increasing their salaries from $75 to $350 a month. The proceedings were interrupted by Jerry Constantine, a house telegraph operator, who appeared on the floor waving a dollar bill and demanding recognition. "I move that the gentleman's bill be laid on the table," said a boy from Ohio. The motion prevailed, and Constantine was dragged to the bar of the house and forced to act in accordance with the motion.—Troy (N. Y.) Times.

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.

If You Wish to Build This Year Build Now.

A Beautiful Display!

Geo. W. Young's Show-Window.

An artistic fac-simile in a standard soap of the United States Building at the St. Louis World's Fair, 1903, in one of Young's show-windows on Main street, is presented for the first time to-day, one of the most novel and attractive special displays ever seen in America. The display is a miniature fac-simile of the United States Building at the St. Louis World's Fair, the material used in its construction being a high-class medicated toilet article, handled here exclusively by Geo. W. Young. The view of this building given by this admirable and artistic soap display is a front one showing the mammoth Arch of Triumph with its ornamental columns, and above this a representation of the Goddess of Liberty on the Chariot of Progress. The vast hall, flanked with smaller halls running through the center of the building and reaching to the dome, which is crowned with the American Eagle with outstretched pinions, is shown with wonderful exactness, as are all the various intricacies of architecture and adornment which distinguished this beautiful structure. The interior arrangement of reception and reading rooms, offices, bureau, etc., are all preserved in this miniature production, and in a manner which reflects credit on the designer. The structure occupies the whole space of the window, and stands upon a ground work of dyed sawdust, representing the greenest and most carefully kept lawn. In height it is fully ten feet, and surrounded as it is by artistically draped American flags, forms a most beautiful picture. It is the cynosure of all eyes on Main street to-day. Regular price 10c per cake but for a limited time 3 cakes go for ten cents.

ROYAL CUTICLE SOAP.
